Dear Dr. Ochavo:

The Aklan State University in New Washington is a recipient of the CHED Institutional Development and Innovation Grant (IDIG) in order to strengthen the College's qualifications in research and development, extension, and instruction through the establishment of the Aklan Research Center for Coastal Studies (ARCCS).

To achieve this purpose a Regional Seminar-Workshop in Multidisciplinary Research: the role of research in nation building will be conducted on July 15 to 19, 2019 at the Aklan Sampaguita Gardens Resort, New Washington, Aklan. This training is facilitated by ARCCS, Sentro ng Wika at Kultura (SWK) and the Research and Development Services of this College.

In this connection, we would be greatly honored if you can grace the said event and share with us the Research Thrusts and Priorities of the Department of Education on Day1, Monday, (July 15, 2019) at 1:00 to 2:00 in the afternoon. Your presence and expertise will be of great help to our aspiring researchers. Likewise, we would appreciate it so much if you could furnish us a copy of your brief resume as we will be providing the participants a profile of our resource persons.

In addition, can we request for your endorsement and wide dissemination of this communication to all interested Basic Education Teachers, especially those teaching research in the Senior High School.

Your transportation, accommodation (if applicable) and food will be covered by the CHED-IDIG Project. For more information, kindly refer to the attached program.

We are of high hope that this event will merit your invaluable support.

Very sincerely yours,

YASMIN H. PRIMAVERA-TIROL, Ph. D.
Campus Director
